

PINGBIAN LYCHEE (屏边荔枝)

Country of origin: China

Type of product: Lychee

Geographical Area: Yunnan Province Pingbian Miao Autonomous County

Specificity of the Product: Yunnan is cultivated in Pingbian County, 1000 meters above sea level, in a tropical area. Yunnan Province has the largest number of lychee trees in the region. Pingbian County began to develop a very vigorous lychee industry in the 1990s due the quality of the product produced there. Pingbian Lychees mature early, have a high yield, elevated stress resistance, and other excellent qualities. Through independent technical innovation, the country worked out the "wave-based" three-dimensional crown pruning method, double-edged spiral loop control and other core technology to promote flowering. This has led to a female flower fruit rate of more than 80%; this is one of the benefits of using advanced management technology. Pingbian lychee cultivation area and output accounted for more than half of the province. The excellent climatic conditions of Pingbian provide the necessary conditions for the formation of the lychee industry.
