Specificity of the Product:

This is based on an ancient species and is important for the preservation of rice varieties. It is often grown in organic food base cultivation; the plant height is 1.8-2.6 m and the growth period is 175-180 days. It was highly regarded as early as the Yuan and Ming Dynasties because of its characteristics; it is soft and non-sticky. It was once designated as a tribute product. The "Dian Tuen 502", "Deyou" series of varieties are the new results of rice science and technology personnel. This species is bred to taste better and have a more pure flavor. It is considered one of Dehong's four treasures. This rice is mainly cultivated at 1100 meters above sea level in the complex mountain valley landscape.
