Specificity of the Product: This type of pomelo is the result of a long-term selection and breeding of pomelo lines under unique geographical, climatic and environmental conditions. These favorable conditions are due to the presence of the big Miao Mountain. This product has unique local characteristics. The pomelo shape is pear-shaped or near pear shaped. The short neck is at the center of the fruit. Similar to other regions of the Shatian pomelo, its flesh is honey yellow - like steamed glutinous rice.
