pecificity of the Product: Zhengan white tea is a famous tea in Guizhou, known as the "green tea treasure" and has a reputation for quality. It is a variety of green tea with an annual picking period of only about a month. It sprouts white leaves in the spring, which are thin and turn light green leaves. When the air temperature ≥ 23 °C, the leaves gradually turn gray to green. Zhengan white tea can be divided into pine needle-shaped white tea and flat-shaped white tea according to the type of shape. It can also be divided by levels into super, first, and second.

Nutritional value of the tea : anti-inflammatory, detoxification, antihypertensive lipid-lowering, elimination of fatigue and other effects, especially after excessive alcohol and tobacco consumption, too much greasy food, digestive dysfunction. The leaves are highly fragrant, fresh and mellow, with a bright color and sweet taste. Its nutritional value is particularly prominent because it has an amino acid content of up to 7.0% or more, which is 2-3 times the ordinary green tea.
