

ZHUO PAN-LIN (“卓攀林”牌)

Country of origin: China

Category: National Geographical Indication Protection Products

Type of product: Medicinal Herbs

Geographical Area: Herbs are produced in high-altitude areas of Qinghai-Tibet Plateau.

Specificity of the Product:

Tibetan medicine has a long history of more than 2000 years, and formed a relatively complete medical system such as Tibetan medicine, diagnostics, and clinical medicine. In the 17th century, the Tibetan Buddhism College, founded in the Gandenbodao Dynasty in Tibet, has played an important role in the spread and development of Tibetan medicine for the benefit of mankind. It is the study and inheritance of the four medical books, the classics of Tibetan medicine, that create a precedent of modern Tibetan medical culture and make it a treasure in the world of medicine.

With this medicine, "Ten flavor gentian flower particles" and "ten flavor gentian flower capsule" is used by the Tibetan people for the treatment of upper respiratory tract infections, bronchitis, asthma, and other lung diseases. In Tibet they have a broad clinical application basis and significant efficacy. Because of the special climatic conditions in the Tibet Plateau, the active substances in herbs are relatively high. These are pure Tibetan herbal medicine that do not use any chemical additives but do use advanced production equipment and technology for the full extraction of the active ingredients. The medicine also includes fang main drug gentian flowers, strong fragrant rhododendron, and Fritillaria for its anti-inflammatory properties; the remaining seven medicinal herbs are anti-inflammatory, expectorants, and painkillers. All the drugs are in strict accordance with the requirements for use in the Tibetan region.

Source:

General Administration of Quality Supervision, Inspection and Quarantine (AQSIQ) - China Protected Geographical Indications Products (<http://www.cgi.gov.cn/Home/>). Product information translated and adapted through <https://translate.google.ch/>.